

EDUCULT Offers: Consultancy

EDUCULT supports the planning and realisation of your projects in the fields of arts, culture and education

EDUCULT – located in Vienna, Austria – is an independent institute for research, consultancy and management in the field of culture and education.

Based on our long-standing experience in consulting policy, administration and practice we meet the demands of our clients in an efficient and productive way. We regard our services as a contribution to the quality development in the sector.

EDUCULT stands for interdisciplinary competence in culture and education

We are your partner if you are interested in the following consultancy services:

- ▶ Conception and planning of projects and events that connect culture and education
- ▶ Evidence-based strategy development in the field of arts and culture education and cultural policy
- ▶ Support in grant and funding applications

Our consultancy is based on a mix of methods and the combination of our team competences in policy analysis and social sciences, pedagogy and economy.

EDUCULT consultancy is proactive and dialogue-based

Do you have an interesting project idea you would like to realise? Are you looking for someone to guide you through a change process? Our approach – participative, dialogue-oriented and proactive – is just what you have been looking for.

As consultants, we understand ourselves as your critical friends. Together we clarify and define your expectations in the consultancy process and leave room to reflect and discuss ideas and plans to enable a joint experience of learning and communication.

EDUCULT has long-standing consultancy experience

EDUCULT connects facilitation and moderation skills with project management and research know-how. Based on proved products and methods, we develop a tailor-made consultancy plan for our clients.

Modules that can be used in the consultancy are for example:

- ▶ Workshops to develop concepts and define objectives
- ▶ Personal advisory for teams and individuals
- ▶ Qualitative and quantitative social research
- ▶ Research on specific topics, contacts and services
- ▶ External and internal communication measures (stakeholder meetings, public relations)
- ▶ Report-writing and analysis of results (guidelines, objectives, strategy papers)

EDUCULT consultancy works step by step

Successful consultancy is based on mutual trust and respect. Get to know us personally and find out if you would like to work with us more intensively. The initial meeting is of course for free. On the basis of an individual offer, you can decide if and how we can support you.
